Restaurateurs must inform their guests about which dishes can trigger allergies or intolerances. A mention is made if the named substances or products made from them are included as an ingredient in the end product. The 14 main allergens are labeled in accordance with statutory regulations. There are also other substances that can trigger food allergies or intolerances. Despite careful production of our dishes, in addition to labeled ingredients, traces of other substances that are used in the production process in the kitchen may be contained.

The official letter code for allergen labeling is as follows:

- A Cereals containing gluten and products derived therefrom
- B Crustaceans and products derived therefrom
- C Poultry eggs and products made therefrom
- D Fish and products made from it (except fish gelatine)
- E Peanuts and products made therefrom
- F Soybeans and products made therefrom
- G Mammalian milk and milk products (including lactose)
- H Nuts and products made therefrom
- L Celery and products made from it
- M Mustard and products made therefrom
- N Sesame seeds and products made therefrom
- O Sulfur dioxide and sulphites
- P Lupinias and products made therefrom
- R Mollusks such as snails, clams, squids and products made from them
